Save $35 on a new home energy display

Curious how your appliances or lights affect your energy use at home? With a home energy display, you can better understand your electricity use, reduce energy waste and lower your monthly bill.

The EMU-2 device connects to your home's electricity meter and displays your energy consumption in real-time – in kilowatts and in dollars. Walk around your home, and turn appliances on and off to see how they impact your energy use!

EMU-2 Home Energy Display

Now only $34.99

Start identifying high energy users in your home, so you can make adjustments and start saving.

Must be a PSE electric customer living in a single-family home to be eligible, with a 1-year-old upgraded AML meter. Energy cost displayed on device is only an estimate and does not reflect your full monthly bill amount. During pilot program, not all customers will have the same experience and access to the same digital tools after purchase.
